

provided excellent guidance on the many trails. Our thanks again to Wilson Francis and all those who provided assistance in producing a wonderful weekend trip.

One of the highlights for me was to be able to announce the Donald L. Jones Award of Merit. This award will be presented to those who have gone above and beyond to support and promote the goals of the KSNP. Mr. Jones has provided excellent leadership and vision from the very inception of the Kentucky Native Plant Society. It is fitting that this award will carry his name. Two other planners and supporters of the KSNP were honored as the first recipients of the

I am reminded of a comment by Malcolm Browne, a Pulitzer Prize-winning foreign correspondent who has reported from nearly every crisis location for decades. He covered the Vietnam War for ten years and won the Pulitzer for his reports from Saigon in 1970. He said there were two kinds of observers in Vietnam: those who heard about the war from others and those with "muddy boots." Mrs. Clark and Charlie have done the "muddy boots" assignments for years and we owe in their debt. They represent the kinds of volunteer leaders who have moved us to where we are today.

Are there others of you out there willing to get into some "muddy boots"?
