

Swanton	Bellevue	Brookly Green	Beaver/Larkspur/Campbell counties
Madison	Highlands	Georgetown	Jefferson

Those who live in or near these cities and know of any city/county functions that would be appropriate to, by chance, know any local officials who could be contacted, please get in touch with me --

London Williams -- 2004 Woodhewer Ln., Elgin, IL 60120

E-mail: LWilliams@compuserve.com / Fax: 815-833-7920 (work) 815-833-1272 (home) and let me know. My wife and I set up our GPP display at a Boone County function in early May and while the weather was terrible, we still found it to be somewhat successful.

As to our newsletter work, we are now identifying those people who will commit to writing one or more articles per year in a steady manner. This commitment will hopefully provide us with an adequate series of articles on informative topics when needed. The plan is to initiate this structured process with the third issue of the year. Subjects will include new plants, past/future highlights, plant community highlights, gardening and landscaping with native plants, weeds and invasive plants, and, of course, the proverbial catch-all, miscellaneous. Please keep in mind, while we feel that a little more structure is necessary to maintain an informative and steady newsletter, it does not prevent anyone from

Index to the 2004 -- 2

Barbery's Methods, III -- 7

Barbery's Methods

Perspective of Reader -- 7

Extension: The Loss of the Subscribers -- 8

It's Time to Volunteer! -- 20

Calendar of Events -- 22

The GPP website
now has a Member Log Book -- January, 07
and thanks those who have recently made contributions beyond their membership fees.